Digital Economy

Become a legal expert in the fields of IP, Internet and Data Law

Online Certificate Course
Law of the Digital Economy

Ready to master the legal challenges of the Digital Economy?

About the programme

The new additional training programme gives interested lawyers from all over the world a deep insight into the features of digital economy law. After a year of online teaching or remote study via YouTube, students from Vienna, Lisbon, Tashkent and other renowned universities will understand the fundamental features of European IP and media law as well as European data law.
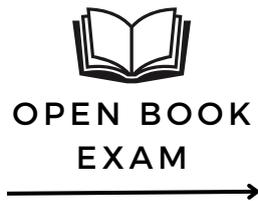

After passing the two exams, you will be a certified expert in areas such as data protection, digital copyright and AI law. In addition, you will receive personalised support through regular Q&A sessions and the necessary teaching materials - all in English. Law Of The Digital Economy – the best way to prepare for the legal challenges of the digital future.
